Into Armed Forces or War Work

Absence of Effort To Direct 4-F's Into Essential Work is Complaint

WASHINGTON, April 20—(AP)—Complaining of "a conspicuous absence" of planned effort to direct qualified 4-F's into essential work, the House Military committee recommended today that men rejected for full military service be inducted for non-combat duty if they fail to seek essential war work.

The committee approved a recommendation of a special subcommittee headed by Representative Costello (D-Calif) that no new legislation be enacted at this time dealing with the 3,500,000 men class 4-F—rejected for service because of disabilities. Existing law, the committee said, provides ample authority for handling such men through administrative procedure.

The committee made these specific recommendations:

That selective service reclassify 4-F's into groups doing essential work and those not in essential jobs.

That selective service and the war manpower commission publish a list of occupations which would entitle a 4-F to be reclassified into 2-AF or 2BF (occupational deferment).

The 4-F's in approved jobs notify their local draft boards and receive a certificate of approval before changing jobs.

That 4-F's not in approved jobs notify their draft boards of willingness to take such jobs.

Must Notify Draft Boards

That failure of a registrant to notify his draft board of willingness to do essential work shall subject him to induction.

That men refusing to take essential work, when it is available, be inducted immediately for assignment to non-combat duty, and not be charged against the combat strength of the army and the navy.

That failure of the prescribed procedure to provide necessary manpower be followed by similar procedure in the cases of men already discharged from service and then, if necessary, apply to men between the ages of 38 and 45.

The committee said it believed existing law gave the army, the navy, the war manpower commission and selective service sufficient power to "meet all of the exigencies that are now presented in relation to the manpower situation."

Power With War Department

While the war department has indicated unwillingness to use of 4-F's, the committee commented: "The authority to do so still remains, and the committee takes the position that until it is pointed out wherein the laws which have already been enacted . . . are shown to be inadequate, further legislation is not necessary."

In the 38-45 group, the committee estimated, there are 7,000,000 men over whose job activities no effective control now is exercised. From 300,000 to 400,000 of these, the report said, are non-fathers who could pass army and navy general service tests.

New Clue to Beheaded Women

CAMDENTON, Mo., April 20—(AP)—Officers talked hopefully, but vaguely—today of "a new clue" in the Lake of the Ozarks' headless body mystery.

The highway patrol began checking whether "two women were missing" in Kansas City, Kas., apparently on a tip as to the identity of the two decapitated women found in the lake several days ago.

The nature of the tip, however, was not disclosed.

Descriptions of the two slain women were radioed to the Kansas Bureau of Investigation and the Oklahoma Highway Patrol for checking against reports of missing women in those states.

One body was found by fishermen Sunday, its head and one leg severed. The second, its head slashed off and the torso ripped by shotgun charges, was discovered Monday.

Burns to Death Across From Fire Station

KANSAS CITY, April 20—(AP)—A man tentatively identified as Allie A. Sexton, 51, was burned to death on a smoldering mattress today before the fire station directly across the street from his apartment learned there was a fire.

Firemen attributed the blaze to a lighted cigarette. The fire did not spread beyond the bed.

Sexton was employed as a maintenance man for a manufacturing company.

Peter J. Baker, Of California, Killed by Train

Was Riding in Car With Neighbor Who Is Seriously Hurt

Peter Joseph Baker, Sr., aged 72 years, a farmer who resided near California, west of the city, was instantly killed about 4:30 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, and a neighbor of his, John Weingarten, was seriously injured, when a car in which they were riding was struck by a Missouri Pacific freight train, near the west limits of California.

Baker had been helping on the Weingarten farm during the day and was being taken to his home. They were driving down a private road which runs adjacent to the Missouri Pacific tracks for about 100 yards, when they turned onto the tracks in front of the train. The car was overturned and Baker was pinned under the automobile. His head was crushed. Weingarten suffered a concussion and other injuries and was taken to the hospital at Latham.

Fireman Saw Car

The fireman of the freight said the train was traveling at a slow rate of speed. He saw the car as it came down the road, but said he did not expect it to turn onto the tracks.

Mr. Baker leaves the following children: Mrs. Lawrence Grieshammer, Jefferson City, Fred, Marie and Wilbur Baker, of the home, Peter J. Baker, Jr., who lives east of California, Pfc. Curtis Baker, serving in the army in New Guinea and Pvt. Paul Baker, serving in England.

Funeral services will be held at 9:00 o'clock Saturday morning at the Annunciation church in California.

Navy Smashes Key Harbor, Jap Airfields

May be First Blow To Regain Malaya And Singapore

By Richard C. Bergholz Associated Press War Editor

Allied naval might has smashed two Japanese airfields and a key harbor in northern Sumatra in what may be the first blow in the battle to regain Singapore and Malaya.

Carrier-based planes ripped up shore installations and the airfields at Sabang and Lhonga yesterday while the mighty Allied fleet, including battleships, shelled the Sabang dock yards. Twenty-two Japanese planes were destroyed on the ground at Sabang and several others at Lhonga.

The task force commander, Admiral Sir James Somerville, commander-in-chief of the British eastern fleet, said there was no Allied naval loss. Only one plane was forced to land at sea but the pilot was saved by a submarine under a hail of shore fire.

Sabang, a tiny island off the northern tip of Sumatra, lies at the head of the narrow straits of Malacca which separate Sumatra from Malay and Sabang's excellent harbor undoubtedly is a key link in the Japanese supply route to Burma.

Strength for Air-Sea Attacks

Sabang and Lhonga on the Sumatra mainland, are within easy bombing range of Singapore.

Significantly, the raid occurred only four days after Adm. Lord Louis Mountbatten, Allied supreme commander in the south-

Approve 32 Billion Navy Supply Bill

Russians Beat Down Counter-Attacks; Disrupt Offensive

TODAY ON THE War Fronts

LONDON, April 20—(AP)—Hundreds of Allied bombers sprang from British bases late today to observe Hitler's 55th birthday with a shower of bombs along the occupied coast of Europe.

A great procession of Allied warplanes of all types began streaming across the channel while the late-setting sun was still high in the sky for an evening bombardment of unusual strength.

The steady roar of their engines could be heard for three hours and the planes swept steadily toward the Atlantic wall behind which Hitler's armies apprehensively stand. English observers recognized American bombers among the formations as well as American Thunderbolts and waves of medium bombers.

LONDON, April 20—(AP)—Russia was understood today to have tendered peace terms to tired Romania but the belief prevailed here that the German satellite must act quickly or face the full weight of the Red army.

Details of the peace terms likely were communicated to the United States and Britain.

WASHINGTON, April 20—(AP)—Secretary of War Stimson said today that "our aerial invasion of Germany is continuing, the pressure is increasing and enemy resistance on the whole is decreasing."

Sweden Rejects Allies' Request

WASHINGTON, April 20 — Neither Farley's friends nor Farley's foes are advertising it, but the recent compromise whereby he was allowed to remain Democratic state chairman of New York means that, after Chicago, genial Jim, who has used more green ink, chewed more gum, remembered more names and slapped more backs than any politician in a decade, probably will step down from his long and successful role in politics.

The tacit agreement is that Jim will step down if the president runs for a fourth term. If he does not run, obviously enough Jim won't step down. This was the deal by which party harmony was preserved and Farley continued as Democratic state chairman.

Behind this quiet understanding is the fact that Democratic leaders in New York had enough votes to roll Jim at last week's meeting of the state committee. Jim was actually on the verge of being ousted. And they would have rolled him if the New Dealers had not stepped in and saved their old critic. They felt that party harmony was important.

How it all happened was partly fluke, partly resentment against Farley by old-line leaders. Here is the inside story.

It began, strangely enough, at a correspondents' party in Albany, where John Mooney, a local newspaper man, went up to talk to Farley. Jim, in a huddle with someone else, ignored him. Mooney got sore.

Next morning, he decided Jim didn't mean anything, and he would forget it. But then came one of those famous green-ink letters from Jim, telling how sorry he was he hadn't had a chance to talk to Mooney. That meant Jim really did mean it, said Mooney, and he got sore all over again.

About that time, Mooney had a talk with Dan O'Connell, Albany Democratic leader, also sore at Farley, and together they hatched rebellion. Their candidate for state chairman was Tom Cullen, editor of the Spectator at Goshen, New York.

How Peace Was Restored

Suddenly, almost before they knew it, a full-fledged swing against Farley had started among county leaders. Opposition newspapers attributed it to the White House palace guard, but real fact is that the latter were just as mystified as Farley. Jim himself remarked to friends:

"I knew it wasn't the White House because Ed Flynn and Frank Kelly were not in the picture."

Basic reason for the revolt was the feeling among county leaders that Jim was putting personal pique ahead of the party. Worried, Jim sent his close friend Bill Morgan out to look over the state. Prospects continued bad.

Meanwhile, word came that the White House didn't want an internal New York fight. Word was passed back that Jim had no desire to hurt the president. Young Democrat Harold Moskowitz then persuaded Tom Cullen to step out as Farley's rival. Thus peace prevailed, instead of one of the hottest cat-and-dog fights in the Democratic party.

Vice President's Press

Morning after Vice President Wallace announced he would go to China, the phone rang in the home of Samuel W. Bell, veteran Washington correspondent for the New York Herald Tribune.

"This is Vice President Wallace speaking," said a brisk voice.

"Who?" inquired Bell, suspicious of practical jokers.

"Vice President Wallace," chuckled his caller. "I called you about that story you wrote concerning my trip to China this summer."

"Yes, Mr. Wallace," sighed Bell, bracing himself for a lecture. The Herald Tribune is an independent Republican paper frequently at issue with New Deal policies. "Did not my story meet with your approval?"

"Very much," replied Wallace.

Little Beaver to Sail With Valiant Squadron of Destroyers in the Pacific

This is a reproduction of the painting sent to Commodore Burke.

By NEA Service

NEW YORK — Little Beaver, Red Ryder's pint-size Man Friday, has joined the navy. From his ringside seat in the skipper's quarters of the U. S. S. Columbia, somewhere in the Pacific, Fred Harman's famous little Indian is going to try to be as helpful to the destroyer squadron that bears his name as he is to Red in their adventures on the western plains.

A written request from the officers and men of the Columbia sent Little Beaver on his Pacific Mission. They wanted a drawing for their skipper, Commodore Arleigh A. Burke, better known as "31-Knot" Burke. So Artist Harman, who draws Red Ryder for NEA Service and the Democrat-Capital, complied with a large water color. He gets scores of requests for pen points, pin-ups, original drawings and autographs. But this one, he said, was a "real honor."

Commodore Burke, his men wrote, "has gained nationwide recognition for his exploits against the Japs. His determination and leadership have been a constant example to others in the area and in the fleet."

It was he who gave the squadron the name of "Little Beavers."

"I just wanted to congratulate you on the fine, objective job you did. You were very fair to me."

Bell was too flabbergasted to reply.

NOTE — Newsman Bell had reported that some observers construed the Wallace trip as an "indication of his retirement," but that New Deal sources felt the trip to China would increase his stock for renomination.

Jesse Jones' Railroads

Senators Reed of Kansas and Bennett Clark of Missouri have some more trouble waiting for Jesse Jones and his position in regard to railroads. They have called a senate hearing for April 27 to look into Jesse's alleged discrimination regarding a reorganization of the Chicago and Eastern Illinois, which Jesse still controls through RFC loans and friendly insurance companies.

Senators Reed and Clark already have won one resounding victory over Jones when he tried to dominate the Kansas City Southern, whose chairman is Pet Couch, brother of Jesse's old friend, the late Harvey Couch, who formerly was chairman.

Harvey Couch and Jones served together on the RFC during the Hoover administration, and Pet Couch took over the Kansas City Southern when Harvey died.

Recently a Kansas City group headed by Grant Stauffer secured a controlling block of stock in the railroad and planned to oust Pet Couch. Whereupon Jesse Jones called in the Dutch ambassador, Dr. A. Loudon, and arranged to have Dutch interests, which have two directors on the Kansas City family was notified by the war department last month that he was injured on February 16.

An army engineer, he had been in the service since April, 1941, and has been overseas for one and one-half years.

Mr. and Mrs. Ehlers have five other sons, but Sgt. Ehlers is the only one in the service.

Each ship carries Little Beaver's picture on its bridge. And Little Beaver and Ryder never polished off a gang of desert desperadoes with greater aplomb than this squadron has shown in disposing of enemy vessels. Last November, for example, the "Little Beavers" sent five or six Jap destroyers to the bottom in a night engagement, without suffering a single casualty.

Squadron to Ride Range

The Columbia's crew decided that an appropriate way to celebrate these exploits and their skipper's leadership would be to write to Mr. Harman and ask that he, "as the originator of the name that has grown so familiar to us of the Pacific fleet, please consider sending to Commodore Burke a personal sketch of Little Beaver, and inscribe it with a message from yourself."

Harman's inscription was "To 31-Knot Burke—to whose heroic leadership his countrymen will forever remain indebted."

"And some day, when this business is over," says the artist, "I'm going to have the men of that whole squadron out to Red Ryder Ranch (at Pagosa Springs, Col.) and give them the run of the range for as long as they wish. Boy, they're great!"

Southern, vote with the Jones-Couch group against the Stauffer group.

This was where Senators Reed and Clark got busy with their investigation. When they introduced their resolution, the Dutch ambassador immediately ran for cover. He told Jesse Jones that he was not going to get mixed up in an American political fracas, and that, from then on, all communications must be addressed to him through the state department.

That ended that. Jesse Jones retreated in confusion. Pete Couch has now indicated that he will step down as head of Kansas City Southern, leaving control to those who own a major share of the railroad.

It will be interesting to see what Jesse does in the C. & E. I. probe set for April 27.

Sergeant Ehlers Is Wounded

Sgt. Elmer A. Ehlers, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Ehlers, who live on a farm near Mora, Mo., has been wounded in action in the Mediterranean theater of war, according to an Associated Press dispatch.

The family was notified by the war department last month that he was injured on February 16.

An army engineer, he had been in the service since April, 1941, and has been overseas for one and one-half years.

Mr. and Mrs. Ehlers have five other sons, but Sgt. Ehlers is the only one in the service.

Signal Corps. "Ready!"
Transportation Corps. "Ready!"

The U. S. Army's Services of Supply, European Theater of Operations, are answering the invasion roll call. Today, after two and a half years of planning and building up stores, the S. O. S. is ready to put an American army on the continent and keep it there. The job done has been gigantic.

The United Kingdom has been transformed almost literally into a mammoth arsenal. It's impossible to go anywhere in the British Isles today without tripping over huge deposits of arms and ammunition, tanks and trucks, machines and material of all kinds. The job still to be done is staggering.

Quarter Ton Per Man

Put yourself in the shoes (145 different sizes) of the quartermaster, for example. You're going to take a trip. You know where you're going, but not how long you'll be gone.

You must take along not only your food for the trip, but the stoves and fuel to cook it, the utensils to prepare it in, the equipment to wash up with.

You've got to take enough clothes to replace those you wear out—and you'll wear them out faster than you'll ever wear out clothes in your life.

You've got to take everything you are going to live in and sleep in. Then there are such comparatively minor matters as bathing and laundry facilities. You must take them.

Well, that's the quartermaster's job. Only instead of doing it for one person, he has to do it for hundreds of thousands. He's responsible for feeding the army, clothing it, furnishing its equipment (from tentage to entrenching tools) and its non-aviation gasoline and oil.

The exact amount which goes into the field with each man is a military secret. It probably runs in the neighborhood of a quarter of a ton (including vehicles, ammunition, etc.). The quartermaster's share in this weight includes over 60 foods and 600 different items of clothing and equipment.

Knows Invasion Plans

To do this job, the quartermaster must know all about the operation months, if not years, in advance. He needs to know not only general climatic conditions, but exactly how many men are going on a water assault. At Dieppe, for example, it was found that in crossing the Channel the men's clothing absorbed several pounds of water. That extra weight handicapped them going into battle. So a lightweight, waterproof throw-away garment was designed for future water assaults.

The quartermaster must know the plans of each assault commander. The commander decides what his men shall wear and carry on an assault. The quartermaster must take for them the things they don't carry but which they'll need later.

He must know too, almost the exact route of the assault convoy. Men going into battle direct from a short water crossing will require very different rations and a very different last shore-meal than men going on a six-day voyage.

Scores of men in each of the Services of Supply must know all about the coming operation many, many months in advance. The security problem makes it an additional wonder that an army ever successfully gets into the field of operations.

Looking Backward

Forty Years Ago

Senator Cockrell has secured favorable report on the amendment to the urgent deficiency bill, appropriating $475,198.13 for the state of Missouri. The sum is the amount of a claim by the state for moneys paid in connection with the loans procured in raising troops to aid the federal cause in the Civil War.

Luther R. Twyman, district deputy grand master, Thirty-fifth Missouri district, A. F. and A. M., has arrived from Harrisonville, and is the guest of J. C. Parmelee.

Fletcher Carter left last night for St. Louis to accept a position under Supt. G. V. Buchanan, who has charge of the educational exhibit at the World's Fair.

The Sedalia College of Music will repeat the sacred concert, recently given, tonight, for the benefit of the East Sedalia Baptist church.

Messrs. John Cashman, Henry Lamm and George W. Barnett came home this morning from the capital where they had business in the supreme court.

In The Service

Pvt. J. R. Helm, former assistant manager of the local Montgomery Ward store, and who was recently inducted into the army is stationed at Camp Bowie, Tex.

Marvin L. Buford, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. P. Buford, 318½ East Seventh street, who has been stationed at Omaha, Neb., has been promoted to the rank of staff sergeant and has been transferred to the Atlantic Ordnance Depot at Atlanta, Ga. Before entering the service he was employed at Montgomery Ward company.

Two Sedalia, Missouri men are receiving their initial naval indoctrination at the U. S. Naval Training Station, Great Lakes, Ill. Their "boot" training consists of instruction in seamanship, military drill and general naval procedure. During this period a series of aptitude tests will be taken by the recruits to determine whether they will be assigned to a naval service school or to immediate active duty at sea.

Their recruit training completed, these men will spend a period of leave at home. They are: Joseph E. Wilborn, 29, husband of Mrs. Olive Frances Wilborn, 1901 South Montgomery avenue; Ernest Paul, 30, husband of Mrs. Marie Helen Paul, 1603 East Seventh street.

Radio-Telephone Cuts Train Schedule

DENVER, April 20—(F)—Radio-telephone communications between the engine and caboose of a 52-car Denver & Rio Grande Western fast freight resulted in cutting three hours from the train's Denver-Salt Lake City roundtrip schedule, officials said Wednesday.

The radio failed to work in the 6-mile-long Moffat tunnel through the Rockies, but functioned satisfactorily in 51 other tunnels.

"BLACK BLIZZARD"
XVII
I NEVER realized that the Daily Messenger had such readership.

No one in the county missed that headline or the story beneath it. All the old feeling against Jan Mesrik was revived.

George Flain was charged with conspiracy to violate the federal prohibition act. He narrowly escaped a prison sentence. After the trial mother and I returned to the farm to live with my grandfather.

My mother was completely baffled by the incomprehensible turn of events. But my father confirmed much of that which was revealed by the Kansas City woman, and other evidence piled up against him. It was about this time that we first heard that it had been George, himself, who had made the suggestion that the Ku Klux Klan pay its call on grandfather.

Mother cried a lot. Her child-like faith in my father was weakened but never completely destroyed.

"He never really meant anyone any harm," she would say. "He never aimed to do wrong."

To this my grandfather would reply: "Leaving him is for the best, Anna. You must remember that."

"He never meant any harm," he added once. "No, and he never meant any good. He thought it was all free and it was all coming to him. It never occurred to him that there was a price on anything. It was a cheap world to George, and that's what he made it."

WE never returned to my father.

The separation became permanent; eventually there was a divorce. I heard that he was living with the woman from Kansas City. Naturally, I did not tell my mother. It was hard enough on me. I can remember not infrequent sessions of blubbering behind the barn, kicking the dirt with the toes of my shoes, sniffing. Eventually we learned of my father's remarriage.

Once when Old Jan and I were out in the fields alone he spoke to me briefly about my parents' trouble.

"This is a strange world, Little Jan. Right and wrong used to be so clear. Now we're all confused. I don't know whether it's a growing tolerance and tolerance is a good thing, or whether we have lost something important from our scale of moral values. If that's it, it's bad."

But there was plenty else to think about those days. Our prime interest, of necessity, was the heart-breaking task of trying to keep the farm together—literally. The drought which had heralded itself mildly in the late '20's, had set in all seriousness in the early '30's. Had we had a feed and cash reserve, we would have been able to do our job of farming much more sanely, even though farm prices were disastrously low. There was no world market for America's surplus crops. Federal attempts to boost prices without controlling production resulted in market quotations so low that they did not justify transportation.

But we had no reserve of any kind. When George lost his trucking business, the entire debt fell squarely on grandfather's farm. In a hopeless attempt to meet this obligation every last foot of land had to be used intensively in an area and during a period when such intensive agriculture was highly hazardous. It was a long gamble, but gambling was our only chance.

"Remember," Old Jan asked me one afternoon when we were stripping every last bit of vegetation from a field to add to our inadequate feed supplies, "Remember one time when I told you that story about Tolstoy and the peasant, and how the peasant would plough? Remember, that I added that you couldn't go wrong in ploughing? Well, you can go wrong, Little Jan. That's something. We're not doing a very good job of 'ploughing' right now."

WE certainly weren't "ploughing" right, if what followed was the consequence of our "ploughing." In no small measure it was, ours and that of a lot of others who were similarly "ploughing." For suddenly, as though we had had no warning whatsoever, the "black blizzards" burst over us.

We did not call them "black blizzards" at first. We did not call them anything. We did not know what they were, not that first one when it struck. It was a strange, new, terrifying phenomenon. Dust blown from the fields, whipped up by gusts of wind, we had seen increasingly of late, but never had we seen the whole world turn into an opaque, suffocating, black hurricane.

I was doing the chores the evening the first "black blizzard" struck. I noticed a dark cloud rising in the north, but, thinking that it would blow over as usual without any rain, I paid no particular attention to it and went about my work. As the cloud grew closer, it took on a peculiar copper color, unlike any I had ever seen before. As it came still nearer, I could see it sweeping up the dirt in front of it like a huge broom. The chickens and cattle were frightened. Then it was on us. Choking, spitting the grit from my mouth, I tried to finish my work. But I could see nothing. It was darker than night. As the air became more stifling, I, too, became frightened. I started for the house. I ran, holding my handkerchief over my face, trying to breathe through it. I bumped into something, felt of it. It was the back of the house. I walked along, keeping my hands on the clapboards. I came to the door and stumbled in. It was dark inside.

Workmen Need More Overalls

By J. W. Davis

WASHINGTON, April 20.—(P)—A bi-partisan group of senators joined today in demanding that overalls, the traditional uniform of America's farmer and industrial workers, shall not vanish from the earth.

All of them have received complaints from back home, as well as from a series of labor union leaders at banking committee hearings on price control, that overalls and other once-cheap work clothes simply aren't available in sufficient number.

"Why, farmers can't find overalls in the stores," said Senator Butler (R-Neb.). "They have to wear their dress clothes while they do their work."

Senator Bankhead (D-Ala.) told a reporter he believes the thing to do is to encourage mills to make more work clothes by raising price ceilings where necessary.

Senator Murdock (D-Utah) said there appears to be a "disparity of profit" between the manufacture of work clothes and dress, or luxury, items, which encourages manufacturers to concentrate on higher price goods.

President William Green of the AFL told the committee yesterday that "textile manufacturers producing cloth for work shirts and other branches of the textile industry have actually curtailed production in order to force a price increase," despite, he said, "constantly expanding profits."

A similar view was expressed by CIO officials earlier.

Confidence that the United States will be able to avoid rationing of bread, flour and other wheat food products was expressed by War Food Administration officials Wednesday as new reports from the winter wheat belt told of further improvements in 1944 crop prospects.

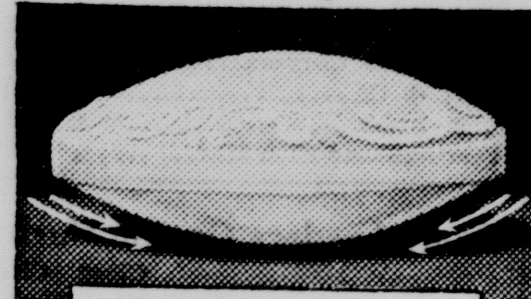

Government grain experts are now expecting a wheat crop of more than 800,000,000 bushels. Supplementing the crop will be a reserve of around 300,000,000 bushels left over from previous years.

Granted Liquor License

The Pettis county court Wednesday granted a license to sell liquor by the drink to Marie M. Randall at the Bungalow, 14 East Third street. The license is for six months.

Attorney Says Wires are Tapped

WASHINGTON, April 20.—(AP)—Ira Chase Koehne, attorney for four defendants in the trial of 30 persons charged with seditious conspiracy, charged in the district court today that his office telephone had been tapped and that his clients were being persecuted.

"Some of my clients have been shadowed for some time," Koehne told Presiding Justice Edward C. Eicher. "My phone has been and still is tapped. What goes on in my office can be heard even when the telephone receiver is on its hook."

"That typifies the persecution to which the FBI and other subversive elements have subjected the defendants and attorneys in this case."

Use Pork Sausage for Low-Point Nutrition Meal

BY GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Staff Writer

Here are some substantial "eats" using plentiful and low ration point pork sausage.

Sausage Main Dish Cobbler
One pound pork sausage links, 1/4 cup flour, 1 1/2 teaspoons baking powder, 1/4 teaspoon salt, 1/2 cup milk, 2 tablespoons pork sausage drippings, 2 cups thick tart apple sauce, 2 cups diced cooked sweet potatoes.

Reserve 6 sausage links. Fry remaining links until cooked and brown throughout; dice. Sift together flour, baking powder, and salt; add milk and sausage drippings. Mix to form soft dough. Combine diced sausage links, apple sauce and sweet potatoes; arrange in casserole greased with sausage drippings. Spread dough over mixture; place uncooked sausage links on dough. Bake in very hot oven (450 degrees F.) 30 minutes. Serve hot. Serves 4 to 6.

Potato Sausage Boats
One pound pork sausage (links or meat), 4 large hot baked potatoes, 1/4 cup milk.

Fry pork sausage until cooked and browned throughout. Cut potatoes in halves lengthwise; scoop out. Whip potato pulp with milk; add 1/2 the pork sausage meat or 1/2 the sausage links, which have been diced. Refill potato shells; top with remaining sausage. Bake in moderate oven (325 degrees F.) about 25 minutes, until heated through and lightly browned on top. Serves 4.

Spring Broil
Twelve broiled pork sausage links, 12 cooked asparagus tips, 6 pieces thick toast, 1 1/2 cups medium white sauce, 2 teaspoons prepared mustard.

Arrange pork sausage links and asparagus tips on hot toast, allowing 2 each of sausage and asparagus for each piece of toast. Season white sauce with mustard; serve over sausage and asparagus. Serves 6.

BREAKFAST: Grapefruit, ready-to-eat cereal, toasted oatmeal bread, butter or fortified margarine, grape jelly, coffee, milk.

LUNCHEON: Casserole of dried lima beans with green peppers and tomatoes, enriched toasted French or Italian bread, sliced oranges and bananas, tea, milk.

BACKACHE, LEG PAINS MAY BE DANGER SIGN Of Tired Kidneys

If backache and leg pains are making you miserable, don't just complain and do nothing about them. Nature may be warning you that your kidneys need attention. The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day. If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up at night, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder. Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from the blood. Appeal From Goebbels To Back Hitler

Tries To Pacify The Germans On Recent Losses

By James M. Long
LONDON, April 20—(AP)—Nazi Propaganda Minister Paul Joseph Goebbels addressed an unusual appeal to the German people Wednesday night to rally behind Adolf Hitler, who celebrates his 55th birthday tomorrow, reminding them that "even the greatest leaders of history will be faced with occasional setbacks and defeats." In a similar but more restrained order of the day to the German army on the occasion of the Hitler birthday, Marshal Hermann Wilhelm Goering called for steady loyalty to Hitler even though "a thousand dangers may lie ahead." The Goebbels message seemed significant in its implications. The Berlin radio broadcast more than 1,000 words of an address it said the propaganda chief delivered on the eve of Hitler's birthday at the German state opera house in Berlin, dwelling throughout on the difficulty of the German position, the righteousness of Nazi war aims and the necessity for sticking together in the hour of trial. On the theme that things are not as bad as they seem, Goebbels said: "It will not be possible to form an accurate and just idea of the individual war events and factors which have been decisive in the war until the war is over. x x x It needs a well-trained eye to discern the trend of historical developments while a war is still going on." Suggesting that many Germans may not approve of Hitler, Goebbels recalled contemporary opposition to Frederick the Great. Of the damage caused by the Allied air raids on Germany, Goebbels remarked that "ten years after the peace has been declared there will hardly be any signs left of the destruction caused by the enemy's terror raids." "All of us," Goebbels said, "consider ourselves engaged in the Fuehrer's historic mission. For us the war aims are not only clearly defined but unalterable. So to serve our aims means to be loyal to the Fuehrer and to follow him through all the storms of war. x x x "It is difficult to remain true to the cause in a continuous unbroken fight for the life of a nation." For Germans who might wonder how Hitler personally is reacting to the current trend of the war, Goebbels gave this picture: "I have been with him (Hitler) in happy and critical hours. The Fuehrer has always remained the same. I have never seen him desperate or undecided. x x x "Even the greatest leaders of history will be faced with occasional setbacks and defeats. It is on those occasions that leaders can prove their true mettle. x x x "Weathered Storms" "The Fuehrer as the man at the helm has weathered all storms. x x x the Fuehrer has never been so dear to us as in moments of greatest danger. x x x "Goering in an order of the day broadcast by the Berlin radio and intended for publication tomorrow told the German armed forces that "no sacrifice and no privation" should be too great to make for Germany, and that "our gift to the Fuehrer is our vow not to lay down arms until we have assured the Reich's future." "The more difficult the hour, the more we are filled by the fanatical confidence that we will attain our aim," the Goering order said. A similar note of impending trial was sounded by Goering in a Hitler birthday statement issued to German newspapers through the German radio. "A thousand dangers may lie ahead," Goering said in this mes-

TO HELP YOU END WORM LOSSES IN YOUR SHEEP AND SWINE!

READ THE FACTS ABOUT THIS NEW DE-WORMING AGENT THAT REALLY FIGHTS INTERNAL PARASITES TO A STANDSTILL . . . SAVES YOU TIME, WORK AND MONEY IN THE BARGAIN!

We're very happy to announce that we have a large stock of the new de-worming agent, TROL, on hand today.

TROL was developed by scientists who know the havoc that internal parasites can create in sheep and swine. It was developed to provide you with an easy, safe, SURE way to really fight those worm infestations . . . and keep sheep and swine healthy and worm-free.

These people produced TROL in two formulas . . . TROL-SHEEP and TROL-SWINE . . . and they tested TROL in the field to make good and sure it would do the de-worming job safely.

If You Have Just a Few Sheep

Drench them with PAR-EX. Easy to fix . . . just add a pound of PAR-EX POWDER to 1 1/2 pints of water. That'll be enough for 22 sheep or 44 lambs. You can also get PAR-EX DRENCH already in liquid form. When you see us about TROL, ask about these, too.

TROL (SWINE)
PIGS 1-8 LB.
HOGS 1-4 LB.

TROL-SHEEP
Contains:
Phenothiazine (unconditioned)
Nicotine Sulfate Solution, 40% (equivalent to 8 grains Nicotine)
Copper Sulfate (Commercial powdered Blue Vitriol)
Dry Brewer's Grains, etc.

TROL-SWINE
Contains:
Phenothiazine
Copper Sulfate
Nicotine Bentonite
Digester Tankage, with bone

ROUGH ON WORMS— MIGHTY EASY ON ANIMALS!

But for all its rough, tough worm-fighting power, TROL doesn't harm sheep or swine in the least way. Fact is, you'll notice . . . and pretty quickly, too . . . that animals wormed with TROL increase in vitality, pick up weight, look better and are sounder in every way. That means sounder wool, better meat, and more successful business for you.

So why not make it a point to drop in here next time you come by and pick up a sack of TROL, the kind you need. It's mighty economical — costs less than other comparable de-worming agents. We're going to have plenty of TROL in stock all the time, because we know you'll be wanting it, once you've tried it at your farm.

'Friendly Fire' Downs Planes

U. S. Air Forces Lose 44 In A Paratroop Action

WASHINGTON, April 20—(AP)—A second instance of American troop transport planes coming under fire from Allied as well as enemy anti-aircraft guns—with 10 planes shot down and 44 officers and men missing—was reported Wednesday night by the war department.

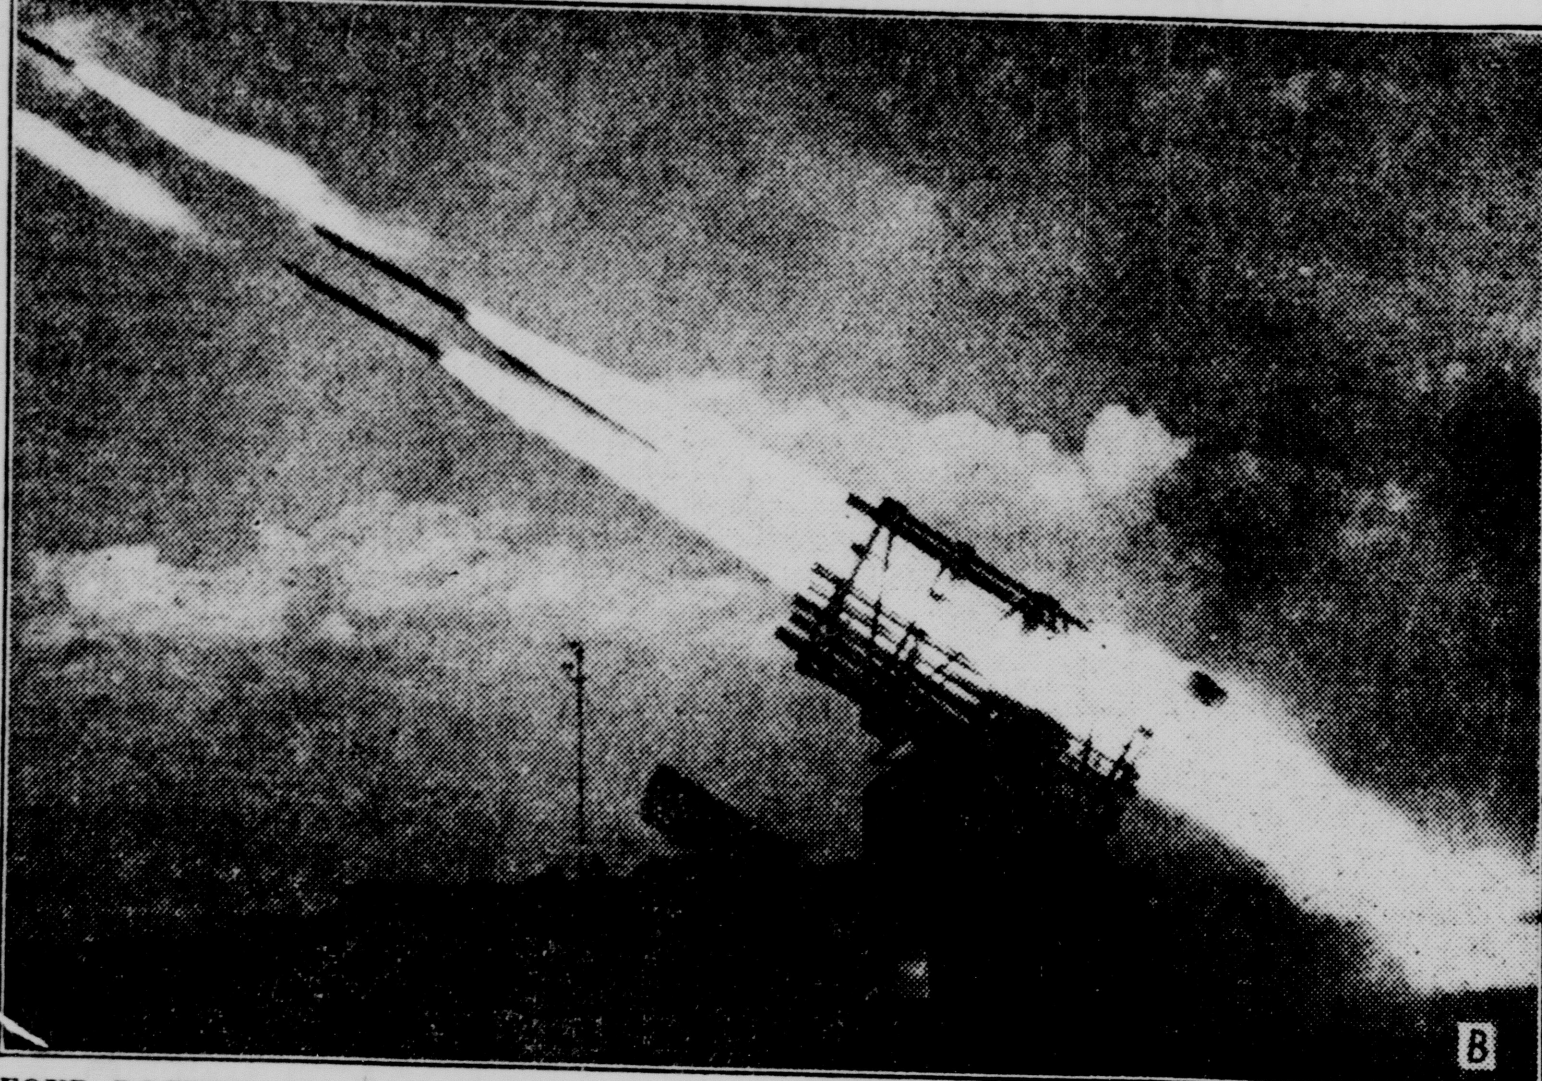

Reporting on the incident which occurred at Catania, Sicily, last July 13-14, the department said it was estimated that 50 percent of the loss was due to "friendly" anti-aircraft fire.

The department did not say who manned the Allied guns, but a navy spokesman emphasized that the fire did not come from United States naval vessels.

Recently, the department has acknowledged that 23 transport planes were shot down with the loss of 410 men on July 11 off Gela, on the southern Sicilian coast, when Allied anti-aircraft gunners opened fire on them.

Today's announcement, as did the first, followed previous publication of unofficial reports of such losses.

New Rocket Gun in Action

FOUR ROCKETS HAVE JUST BEEN FIRED from this new British gun which has been secretly developed and only now made public. It has been in action with good results against Nazi planes in their recent raids on English cities. Note the tremendous "backwash" of flame made by the rockets, which are fired electrically and climb into the sky with a great rushing noise.

Drew Pearson said in his Washington column today that after the Gela incident "we lost a second wave of 21 planes with almost 400 three days later—also shot down by Allied naval gunners."

War Department Statement
Obviously in reply, the department issued this brief statement: "While the war department normally does not discuss operations in a British area, it may be said in this instance the United States loss in the Catania operation on the night of July 13-14, as taken from official records, was 10 transport planes and 44 officers and men missing, of which 50 percent were estimated as having been caused by friendly anti-aircraft fire."

Asked what the British losses in planes and men were on this occasion, a department official replied that the British would have to make any announcement on that subject. It was understood here, however, that the British plane losses were smaller than the American.

The size of the operation was not disclosed. The incident occurred during a battle in which British parachute troops of the 8th army seized a bridge against heavy enemy opposition during the early stages of the Sicilian invasion.

Claude L. Boul, secretary and treasurer of the Sedalia Industrial Loan and Investment company, has returned home from St. Louis where on April 17 and 18 he attended the American Industrial Bankers Association Institute of Industrial Banking held at the Hotel Statler in St. Louis. Mr. Boul attended the institute as a representative of his company.

The theme of the institute was "After Victory Plans for Consumer Credit." Dr. William McClellan, chairman of the board of directors of Union Electric company of Missouri, chairman Eighth Regional district, committee for economic development and member of the executive committee, Riggs National Bank, Washington, D. C., was the principal speaker.

Carter B. Cordner, Los Angeles, Calif., was elected president.

The Industrial Bankers Association is composed of members who operate industrial banks and industrial type loan and investment companies. It has a large membership which consists of members from thirty-nine states in addition to the District of Columbia, Territory of Hawaii and the Dominion of Canada. The association was organized ten years ago in 1934, and its purpose is to help members furnish and develop a valuable service to meet the needs of all classes of people in the respective communities. From a very small beginning the association has developed to a total membership of at least 524 member firms.

The next annual institute will be held in Chicago in May 1945.

Resignation of James W. Atkinson as Pettis county surveyor and engineer was accepted Wednesday by the county court, Judge J. V. Kesterson presiding.

'Build a Better Mousetrap and ...'

It's unlikely that the world will beat a path to the doorway of Sgt. Philip J. Bianco of Cleveland, Ohio, but the rattrap he built on Cape Gloucester seems to merit it. Photo-diagram above shows him demonstrating the gadget. Idea is: rat travels runway (1) to get bait (2), but last section of runway (3) is hinged, way (1) to get bait (2), but last section of runway (3) is hinged, and rat's weight sends him kerplunk into can, (4). Bianco caught 65 in one night.

Ask Overriding Berries Ceiling

WASHINGTON, April 20—(AP)—Terming his action "the first move of its kind against an Office of Price Administration ruling," Rep. Morrison (D-La.) Wednesday wrote President Roosevelt asking him to override or withhold an OPA setting ceiling prices on strawberries.

Morrison said he was appealing to the President in accordance with section three of the OPA act of 1942, amended, "which gives the President the right to correct gross inequities."

Morrison said that 14 states are affected by the order: Louisiana, Florida, Texas, Mississippi, Arkansas, Missouri, Tennessee, Kentucky, South Carolina, North Carolina, Virginia, Maryland, Delaware, and New Jersey.

In his appeal to the President,

Morrison said "I make this appeal to you as a great humanitarian to withhold the effectiveness of this OPA ceiling directive on strawberries until May 15, or increase the present confiscatory price to $7.50 per crate, as you are authorized to do."

The OPA said its announced schedule was designed to return to growers the national average farm price of $6.51 a crate.

Bigger Gardens Needed

The 1944 food goals demand not only 2,000,000 more Victory Gardens than last year, but bigger and better ones as well.

Enlisted Man Writes Home Of Bad Food

Censor Permits Letter to Pass Censorship

SEATTLE, April 20.—(P)—A Seattle mother made public tonight a letter from her son in the Southwest Pacific where, she charged, food served American soldiers was so unpalatable that army censors were "now actually encouraging enlisted men to write home complaining about conditions."

The letter was written to Mrs. Wallace Johnson by her son, Corp. Beryl W. Johnson, 36, an airplane mechanic stationed overseas for the past 20 months. The letter was received this week.

(The letter passed regular mail censorship and was approved for publication by the Office of Censorship Washington, D. C.)

"When we first arrived here, and the food was so terrible, we were told by our group censors that we couldn't mention that fact, as it was bad for morale," the soldier wrote.

"Then, too, I really didn't much care, as I do not like to complain and cause more worry for you folks."

"But now the base censor tells us it's okay to mention these things—perhaps it might help."

Went to Bed Early

At another point in the letter, he wrote:

"Many times I've gone to bed hungry, simply because my stomach revolted at the smell of that chow. We still get by, but that makes all of us so darn mad that they deprive you folks at home of good food so that 'our boys' will have the best. Then to hear from folks, and they say: 'Things are hard to buy, prices high, shortage of points, etc., but we don't mind at all as we know you boys are eating well.'"

Johnson gave an account of the fare which, he said, at first had consisted of bully beef two or three times a day, pan cakes without butter, dehydrated eggs, dehydrated potatoes, dehydrated cabbage, an inedible variety of canned fish, hard tack and, occasionally, fresh beets, canned sweet potatoes and Australian canned fruit.

Change for Better

Later, he stated, there was a change for the better, with cream of wheat, fresh meat three or four times a week, some fresh potatoes and tomatoes and canned peas and tomatoes.

"Now, however, we have seemed to slip for a while, as we have had no fresh meat for a week or 10 days, no eggs for a month or so."

"But it really isn't so bad any more, as I find that the best way is to eat only one meal a day on these kind of days, and I can always enjoy that one meal, and it really doesn't bother me much."

"But I know that this is a darn poor condition and you folks at home have been more than misled as to our chow. If enough of us write this kind of letter, it might eventually do some good."

When his mother first wrote to him about the quality of food he

Richard Young Is Fined $25

Richard Young, 700 West Clay street, charged with assault and battery upon Earl Wolf, at Sixteenth street and Vermont avenue, Tuesday night, was fined $25 and costs, a total of $45 by Judge C. W. Bente, sitting as ex-officio justice of the peace.

Young admitted to the court he was the cause of all the trouble with Wolf and pleaded guilty.

In the earlier part of the week Young's brother, "Corky," was fined $5 in police court for fighting, and given a stay on the fine on good behavior. According to the police, "Corky" was supposed to have been with his brother when he attacked Wolf, but he did not play any part in it.

Car Collides with Horse and Buggy

C. L. Cochran, 204 North Mill street, reported to the police Wednesday evening that his car had collided with a buggy, which he said was driven by the "Smith boys" who live on East Twelfth street. No damage resulted to either car or buggy, the horse was not injured, nor were the occupants of either vehicle.

Cochran stated he was driving west on Saline street, when at Brown avenue, the horse and buggy appeared on the wrong side of the street. The horse fell down and it was necessary to call Elmer Arnold's wrecker to put the horse back on its feet.

The accident occurred about 10 o'clock that night.

Sedalian's Cousin Ordained a Priest

Father Roger Mercurio, C. P., son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Mercurio, St. Louis, formerly of Sedalia, will be ordained a priest on Wednesday, April 26, 1944 at the Cathedral of the Assumption, Louisville, Ky., by the Most Rev. John A. Floerke, Archbishop of Louisville. He will conduct his first solemn mass at 9:30 o'clock Sunday morning, April 30, at the St. Patrick's church, University City, Mo.

He is a grandson of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Mercurio, who were Sedalians. Mrs. Albert Avasino, 311 West Fourth street and Mrs. L. B. Candotte, 409 West Fourth street are second cousins of Father Mercurio.

Many 'Hot' Gas Coupons

By William F. Arbogast

WASHINGTON, April 20.—(P)—Congress was told by an OPA official today that with "hot" C coupons bringing 50 cents each and illegal transactions draining off an estimated 2,500,000 gallons daily, black market operations soon may force a reduction in civilian gasoline rations.

This assertion was made by Shad Polier, director of gasoline rationing enforcement for the Office of Price Administration, in a digest of black market operations prepared for a House Interstate sub-committee investigating the gasoline situation.

"The black market in gasoline is already dangerous," Polier's memorandum said, "but if allowed to grow it will become a serious threat to the whole war effort."

The 2,500,000 gallons of gasoline which Polier said is the daily "tribute" to "the thieves and counterfeiters who steal, print and sell gasoline coupons and to the chiselers who buy them or buy gas without coupons" would increase "A" rations by 30 miles a month or boost the top limit for "B" rations from the present ceiling of 325-475 miles to an estimated 700 miles monthly for business drivers.

The heaviest concentration of illegal coupons, was described in the report as being in the east, with the problem "also serious" in California, the Pacific Northwest and on the gulf coast.

No Scotch for No. One Ace

ATLANTA, April 20.—(P)—Capt. Eddie Rickenbacker, World War I ace who offered a case of Scotch whisky to the first flyer who topped his record of shooting down 26 planes, is not going to send the present-out of deference of General Douglas MacArthur's wishes.

Major Dick Bong, a non-drinker, recently got his 27th Japanese plane in the Pacific, but General MacArthur opposed a case of Scotch as a reward. Rickenbacker said more than 100 persons had offered to provide the liquor.

In an interview with the Atlanta Constitution, Rickenbacker also predicted that his record would be broken "many times before the war is over, especially since the war is by no means near an end."

"These American boys," he said, "have the training, they have the guts, they have the imagination. They are getting better all the time, while the air forces of the enemy are now on the downgrade."

Pierre Laval, French Vichy Chief, Scared

Warns Countrymen Not to Cooperate With Invaders

By DeWitt Mackenzie

Associated Press War Analyst
Coincident with the Allied broadcast from London notifying the people of France that "the time is getting short" before the great invasion, Pierre Laval, chief of the French Vichy government, has issued a panicky warning to his countrymen not to cooperate with the invading armies.

This quailing, who was one time premier of France in the proud days before the war, is scared—and with good reason. That was made clear from his broadcast, which was picked up by the Blue Network in America. Said he:

"Massed formations of Anglo-American parachutists will be dropped over France x x x they will seek the cooperation of French partisans, and civil war will break out in France x x x for months I have worried about the possibility of a landing."

M. Laval isn't a nice person. The first time I looked him in the eye I immediately decided that if I ever got in a poker game with him I should tote a gun. However, he's crafty and he's smart. When he forecasts civil war in France he isn't thumping an empty tub.

Division Between Loyalists

Ten days ago this column referred to the menacing division between the French loyalists and those who have supported Laval's pro-Nazi regime, and expressed the view that "the hatred between these groups is so great that it will be a wonder if it doesn't result in bloodshed when the Axis control is broken." I added that the loyalist underground organization already had prepared a huge list of names of pro-Vichy Frenchmen who must stand trial on charges of being traitors—and will be lucky to get trials at all.

No wonder Laval has worried for months. And if I know my Laval, he's been worrying one per cent for the other fellow and 99 per cent for himself. This man who has played the Nazi game, and even sent thousands of his own people into slavery in Germany, knows that if bloody reprisals do start he will be one of the first the loyalists will try to hunt down.

Problem for Eisenhower.

Who's going to restrain the forces of vengeance in the early days of the invasion? There are said to be hundreds of thousands in the underground army of the loyalists. Many of them are armed despite the fierceness of the Nazi Gestapo punishment for possession of weapons.

The Loyalists are likely to start operating in the interior of France as soon as the invasion gets under way. They will strike where they can at both Germans and Hitlerite sympathizers. The main Allied forces won't be there to prevent civil strife, even if there are parachute troops as Laval expects.

That's the grim problem which our General Eisenhower, as Allied commander in chief, will be up against.

It looks as though the only solution of this terrible threat lies in the possibility that the organization of the underground army is sufficiently good to respond to "remote control" by the Allies and the French Committee of National Liberation, headed by General Charles De Gaulle, in Algiers. There can be no answer to that in advance of the event.

Thus far the underground army is said to have obeyed instructions from the Allies and the committee. Once the lid is off, however, passions will run high and all the pent up hatred of nearly five years of Nazi brutality will be let loose. That's why Laval's shrewd political mind foresees civil war.

Overheated Furnace Threatens Fire
The fire companies, at 9:43 o'clock this morning, were called to the residence of J. H. Anderson, 908 East Fourth street, where a gas furnace became overheated. No damage resulted.

For Ambulance Service Ph. 8 of some startled the Tulsans who saw them down beers with more than the customary zest and spread out generous tips just to have a lot of catering service. It was fun to distribute money after being in a place where there was nothing to spend it on for so many wearisome months.

Following his visit in Sedalia, Alpert will go to Milwaukee to see friends there.

His furlough is only for 20 days with four days travel time, but when he reports for duty it will not be back to the Aleutians—he'll return to Camp Gruber—for the men who have been in the Aleutians for two years or more are relieved and their posts manned by replacements who will "sweat it out" for Uncle Sam in the cold island chain that is one of his mighty far-flung bastions.

"It's a little warm here for me," observes Cpl. Jack Alpert, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Alpert, 508 West Fourth street, who recently returned to the United States after 30 months of duty in the Aleutians.

He arrived in Sedalia last Saturday night on his first furlough since he entered service in June of 1941, being drafted through the selective service board in Milwaukee, Wis., where he had worked as an electrician since 1937.

Cpl. Alpert took his basic training in California and left for the Aleutian Islands October 10, 1941, nearly two months before the attack on Pearl Harbor which thrust the United States into the war.

Another service son of Mr. and Mrs. Alpert is now home on furlough—Pvt. Joe Alpert who is with a parachute field artillery battalion at Camp Forrest, Tenn. Cpl. Alpert learned upon his arrival home that his eldest brother, Harry, is now a private in the army, and is taking his basic training at Camp Croft, S. C.

Other Brothers in Service
There are two other brothers in the armed forces: Lieut. Robert, Alpert, U. S. Marines, on duty in the Marshall Islands, and Lieut. Paul Alpert, U. S. Army, field artillery, in combat lines in Italy.

Emphasizing his delight to be back, after the bleak monotonous months on the islands in the north Pacific, Cpl. Alpert declared, "I could kiss this ground here, and added that 'I guess most of the boys feel that way.'"

On the last night on the boat that brought them to the United States "none of the fellows would go to bed; they stood around the rail all night long just to watch the lights along the coast."

"That's dead man's land up there," Alpert remarked cryptically.

However, many improvements have been made since he first laid foot on the dreary land of tundra and snow, for he was with the first troops to reach the Aleutians—and life in the "pioneering" days was very rugged indeed.

Little On Experiences

Limited by military restrictions Cpl. Alpert could say little of his duties and experiences there. He was with the coast artillery while in service in the Aleutians, but now has been assigned to field artillery, and is stationed at Camp Gruber, Okla., where he reported before receiving his furlough.

He indicated that when the returned Aleutian soldiers obtained their first passes the exuberance

"ALL-BRAN WORKED WONDERS FOR ME!"

Says Constipation Sufferer

There's real hope for common constipation sufferers in this unsolicited letter!

"Thanks for what KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN has done for me. I'm 75 years old. Had been taking pills and salts almost every night. 6 weeks ago, I started eating KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN every morning. Soon I had regular movements without any trouble. I can't praise ALL-BRAN enough. It sure works wonders for me."

Mr. E. C. Zoak, Box 114, Fairbury, Ill.
How can such amazing results for thousands be explained? Scientists say it's because KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN is one of Nature's most effective sources of certain "cellulose" elements, lack of which in the diet is a common cause of constipation. They help the friendly colonic flora fluff up and prepare the colonic wastes for easy, natural elimination. KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN is not a purgative. Doesn't "sweep you out!" It's simply a gentle-acting, "regulating" food.

If you have constipation of this type, eat KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN regularly with milk and fruit, or mixed with other cereals. Drink plenty of water. See if you, too, don't get real help! Insist on genuine ALL-BRAN. Only on Kellogg's in Battle Creek.
